quot;Early Access Review"

Whether or not the game's asking price of $3 is worth it for possibly up to 30 minutes of gameplay time is up to you, I did get enjoyment out of the 14 minutes I played which involved playing through the game once and then again to collect runes to get the secret ending.

The game plays like a typical platformer game and has just 3 levels currently, each with a boss and several sub areas in each. The same music track in each level can get a bit grating.. i have downloaded this pack and no dlc keys. gt; This game is like "Guns of Icarus: Online" Simulator.

Literally the same mechanical design has been used here and executed much more poorly. not worth installing, Go buy Guns of Icarus instead. Always a win. RIP Heroes Games.. This has quickly become THE go-to party game and intro to VR at my house! The quirky style, sound effects, and low-key cannibalism are a perfect combo. Great gameplay for total beginners but even our "experienced" group still can't even touch the hard mode levels.

Reminds us of Overcooked but way sillier, also you will be craving cake afterwards.

Requires more communication than most couch co-op games, the baker/VVR player has to effectively communicate what they need for every customer, and the minions need to divide up duties and stay aware enough to step in where needed.

A lot of my friends have sunk years into food service and the ability to throw octopi at customers is a great stress reliever!!

I haven't tried the career mode yet but I'm sure it's well done!. To start I do love this locomotive! It has bright headlights, accurate design, Nicely made cab interior and CSX coal cars. All CSX SD80MACs are Ex-Conrail so the engine's physical body shape is accurate. The ditch lights do not flash(IDK if they do in real life though) and the engine is equipped with a Conrail RS3L horn(IDK how real they made the horn) but it has a too long of a loop making it hard to do the long long short long sequence. Also the brake physics are totally messed up like on the SD40-2 LHF. I still say go get it since it is a good looking train despite the glitchiness.. A really good looking minigame.

Fun, simple, and charming! Don't let the short play time ruffle your feathers, it's unique and memorable and I thoroughly enjoyed every minute of it! This game is definitely something to crow about and it'll certainly caws you to smile!.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=FAucVNRx\_mU. I have loads of fun playing Genetic Disaster in co-op.

Characters are great and there is a tremendous amount of weapons. The game is not finished yet, some parts like audio require a bit more love, but overall it's already pretty polished.

It's a fun couch game, I recommend it.. hate it....

Just hold W for several hours and then you have played this game.... I simply love this game. Its all about micromanaging your business. You need another workshop? Build it but are the people satisfied? No? Then take care of their needs or no one will work for you! Be sure to remember about housing!. Really wish they let you select a difficulty level on skirmish. Tutorials are non-interactive and very lacking, and if you try to learn through skirmish, you are just gonna get blitzed and wiped out repeatedly. Can't really fathom why they would not let you select the difficulty on skirmish if you are a new player or are just in the mood for a relaxing match. At least give the player the option to choose their difficulty. I typically prefer skirmishes to the campaigns in these types of games.. Gal*Gun 2, sequel to the Gal*Gun: Double Peace. The story is quite similar to the Gal*Gun: Double Peace's: the main character gets blessed with popularity among the girls and has an angel guiding him. You get to shoot some girls and demons this time, too.

The stories with each character were decent. The different routes like Chiru route A and B were kinda boring to do, cause the only thing you needed to do differently was the quest line. But when the route was with a different character it was nice because it was something new. The gameplay was simple: Shoot some girls as accurately as possible to earn some points and suck some demons with your Demon Sweeper. The difference between GG2 and GG:DP was that you had free camera movement. There were some times when the game kinda lagged and the camera movement was frustrating to use. This game also supports VR so it might have been better experience with VR in many ways but it was OK this way, too. Battles were quite easy and Doki-Doki modes were really nice... of course.

Like in Gal*Gun: Double Peace I wanted to complete this game with 100% achievements as well as soon as possible. Turned out that I completed all the achievements... except the True Gal Gun Master which requires all other achievements to be done. I hope this issue will be fixed in the future. Also, what comes to the price for this game, I got this with 39,99€. I just had to buy this because I liked GG:DP quite a lot. The normal price which is 49,99€ is way too much in my opinion. GG:DP had more to offer and I personally think the achievements were better in GG:DP. Fitting price for this game could be also (like I said in my GG:DP review) somewhere around 20€ but going over 30€ is too much in my opinion.

Lastly, I'd rate this game 6.5/10 because there was less to do than in GG:DP, the price was too much but the gameplay and the game's atmosphere were enjoyable and nice in my opinion.

EDIT: Apparently they fixed the issue with the last achievement. All good :).. one of best Planet Coaster DLC ever...must have include 9 classic ride

- Sky Temple = Pagoda
- Rising Raptor & Golden Eagle
- Free Flyer = Paratrooper
- Swift Drifters = Whip
- Interdimensional = Spinning Coaster Mack Rides
- Infinite
- Armada = Splash Rides
- Macchina Classica = Autopia
- Gondola = Cable Cars

my favorite ride of this dlc is Armada because I want to create Jurassic Park the Ride in my park.. This racing sim might be nearly a decade, but it's still one of my favourite. <3
